Question 2

Imagine you are the supervisor of a section of the university Library. During tea break, the messenger tries to make tea using an electric kettle. The mains socket has had no protective cover on it for some time so that the messenger manually connects and disconnects the wires to the kettle for it to function. On this particular morning, upon switching it on, the kettle catches fire and the messenger sustains severe burns on his left hand and arm. John Phiri, an electrician, manages to get the fire extinguisher to work and envetually extinguishes the fire.

Write an accident report to the University Librarian informing him about the accident and how such accidents could be avoided in future. (10 marks)

Question 3

English language is a very important subject in Malawian schools since it is a means of instruction in class. However, many students find it difficult to express themselves using this language. Over the years, students' mastery of spoken and written English has become very poor. Write an essay explaining why students' command of this language is poor and suggest how this problem could be dealt with. (15 marks)

Question 4

A. Imagine a thief was moving towards a neighbour's house and you saw him crawling towards the door where a shadow cast a good amount of darkness, nearly at mid-night. You dashed towards the house the thief aimed at. The thief saw you moving cautiously and he stopped moving. In the process you sneezed loudly and the thief took to his heels, disappearing in a flash.

I. Which communication theory or model would you use to explain the communication process occurring here? Justify your answer (2 Marks)

II. What does the communication theory you have given in 4 A(I) above say as to what actually happens in the communication process. (4 Marks)

III. In the described situation in 4A above , identify and explain any two instances of feedback that are available. (4 Marks)

B. The school matron asked Mary Thakarava to explain in writing her situation on failure to meet school fees demands since she has always remained with a balance at the end of every semester. Mary submitted it and the Finance Officer complained of what Mary was trying to say in her letter. Mention any four possible challenges that would be blocking clear messaging of Mary's writing? (12 marks)
